MEMBERS OF SIMPLE LIFE CLUB
WILL NOT FOLLOW WAGNER'S IDEALS

President Charles R. Spicer Says That He Founded New Organization to Attract Young Men From Objectionable Places and Provide Quarters for Social Relaxation.

ALFRED KLEYHAUER, Treasurer. CHARLES R. SPICER, President of the Simple Life Club.

The philosophy of living as understood by Charles Wagner in his book on "The Simple Life" has already succeeded in enlisting enthusiastic adherents in St. Louis. Application was made a few days ago to the Circuit Court for a pro forma decree of incorporation for the Simple Life Club, which is being organized by five young men of this city. The purpose of the club is for the members to associate together for literary and social amusements and to maintain a clubhouse with reading, music, dining and pool rooms. Although the name of the club would indicate that the object of its members was to lead a simple life, the president of the club, Charles R. Spicer, emphatically contradicts any such assumption. When seen at the temporary headquarters of the organization, Mr. Spicer defined in a general sort of a way the simple life which the club would be conducted. "Although the name of our club was taken from the title of Wagner's book," he said, "it is not our intention to follow out any of the ideas of the philosopher, beyond the fact that we intend to make the environments of our club life as simple and unostentatious as possible, so simply want our friends and their friends to get together in some homelike place and enjoy themselves amidst pleasant and congenial surroundings. It is not our intention to attempt any alleged reforms, nor to change the lives of our members. If the influences of our club help to keep some of the fellows from spending their time at other places of amusement where the moral atmosphere is not so elevating, why, we shall feel that our venture has met with some degree of success.

LOVE OF HOME LIFE THE MOTIVE.

"We propose to get about 100 fellows together and then move into the clubhouse, the location of which has already been selected, where we can have a reading-room, a poolroom and a buffet. In this way we hope to combine our literary studies and various forms of social relaxation."

"Was the idea of this novel enterprise originated from 'The Simple Life'?" he was asked.

"Well, not entirely," he answered. "The fact is, I have been living in hotels for so many years that the desire to see something of real congenial home life has become a mania with me. For the past few days I have been living at a small downtown hotel, and there is an unusual amount of noise there at night."

"The other morning when I was awakened out of a very deep sleep I began thinking how pleasant it would be if there were only some place where everything was quiet and simple, and gradually I conceived the idea of the Simple Life Club." Upon proposing the subject to several of my friends I met with such enthusiasm that I decided to take the thing up in earnest.

The other officers are: William Stevenson, first vice president; Edwin Spicer, second vice president, and Alfred Kleyhauser, treasurer.

COL. MCCLERNAND
GOES TO MANCHURIA

Will Proceed to Japan to Report to Marshal Oyama as Soon as He Receives Instructions From Washington.

Lieutenant Colonel Edward J. McClernand, U. S. A., has received official notification from the War Department that he has been appointed attaché to the Japanese Army in Manchuria.

Colonel McClernand is a cavalry officer of long experience, having served in a cavalry troop on the Western plains for more than twenty years. He received valuable training during the Indian uprisings.

He is to succeed Colonel Enoch C. Crowder, a native of Missouri, who has been attached to the Japanese Army in Manchuria ever since the war broke out, and who is to be relieved on account of ill health. When seen at his apartments in the Tenth Hotel yesterday afternoon, Colonel McClernand said:

"I was officially notified several days ago that I had been appointed attaché to the Japanese Army in Manchuria, and as soon as I receive detailed instructions I will take the first steamer from the Pacific Coast to Japan. I will go directly to Tokyo and present my credentials to the American Legation. I will then probably be assigned to the staff of Marshal Oyama, and get my first opportunity to see the Russians and Japs in active warfare."

Lieutenant Colonel Henry A. Greene will come to St. Louis to succeed Colonel McClernand. He has been on the General Staff since his organization, but recently was appointed chief of staff of the Department of the Southwest, the headquarters of which are located at Oklahoma City. The Secretary of War appointed Colonel Greene chief of staff of the Northern Division after General Bland personally recommended him for the position.

BURGLAR MAKES TWENTY-FOOT LEAP

Refusal of Watchman to Take Chances of Jumping Enables Thief to Escape.

Desperate chances were taken by a burglar yesterday morning at 2 o'clock when he escaped from Private Watchman Motigue. Two twenty-foot leaps, which the watchman refused to take in following the man, prevented his capture.

In making his rounds the watchman saw a man in the alley back of the Geller, Ward & Hauer Hardware Company's buildings at Third and Vine streets. As the watchman approached the man ran. At the same time Motigue saw another man on the fire escape near a second-floor window of the building. Seeing the watchman the man climbed into the window.

The watchman climbed up the fire escape, the burglar having let down the ladder, and ran into the building just in time to see the burglar raise a window on the side.

McTigue was only a short distance from the burglar when he leaped from the window on to the roof of an adjoining building twenty feet below. Running over the roof, the burglar leaped to the ground, another twenty feet, just as the watchman fired two shots at him from the window.

Policemen Dunn, Lane, Farrell and Sullivan of the Central District, attracted by the shots, hurried to the scene. They found four shotguns on the fire escape and two revolvers in the alley. They had been stolen from the store.

A hat was left by the burglar on the fire escape. It may afford the police a clue by which to find the burglar.

NEGRO WITH BROOMSTICK KNOCKS BOY FROM CAR.

Ernest Abel, White, Engaged in Fight on Back of Swiftly Moving Coach.

On the narrow ledge at the back of a Market street car, which was running at high speed Saturday night, Ernest Abel, 15 years old, of No. 228 Temple avenue and a negro boy engaged in a fight, which resulted in Ernest being knocked from the car with a broomstick.

The negro was on the car first, stealing a ride. He objected to Abel getting on the car, fearing the conductor would detect two of them, while he alone might ride as far as he wanted to.

Ernest, however, got on. After the car had started and was going fast, the negro attempted to push the white boy off. Ernest clung to the dashboard, but a blow on the nose dazed him and he lost his hold.

Policemen Falvey and Quinlan of the Central District found the boy bleeding on the sidewalk at Market and Johnson streets. They took him to the City Dispensary, where Doctor Lawrence stated that his nose was broken. He was then forwarded to the City Hospital. The police are now searching for the negro.

ATTEMPTS TO END HER LIFE.

Mrs. Minnie Anyline Drinks Tincture of Iodine.

After quarreling with her husband, Mrs. Minnie Anyline, 48 years old, of No. 20 North Sixteenth street, drank tincture of iodine at the home of her mother-in-law, at No. 161 Hogan street, yesterday.

An ambulance was summoned and she was removed to the City Hospital, where the doctor pronounced her case not serious.

GIRL FAINTS AT A DANCE.

Partner Prevents Dora Keller From Fainting.

Dora Keller, 17 years old, of No. 226 Pa. pin street, fainted while dancing at Concordia Hall, No. 144 Chouteau avenue, yesterday morning at 1 o'clock, and would have fallen to the floor had not her partner held her in his arms.

An ambulance was summoned and she was taken to her home. After being revived, Miss Keller stated that she was subject to fainting spells, and declared that it was not the "mad whirl" of the dance that caused her to faint.

ATTEMPT TO BURN STABLE.

C. Wende Finds Bundle of Oil-Soaked Rags Burning.

An attempt was made shortly after midnight yesterday to set fire to a stable in the rear of Mrs. Mary Wende's residence, at No. 320 Noyes street.

Charles Wende found a bundle of oil-soaked rags lying against the stable in the alley behind the house. He extinguished the flames and informed Policemen Hendy. The stable was not damaged.

Girl Taken to Hospital.

At the request of her father, Frank Kempf, of No. 22 Geyer avenue, early yesterday morning the police took Margaret Kempf, 23 years old, to the Emergency Hospital. Kempf says his daughter had been confined in the State asylum, and that she resisted all efforts to put clothes on her.
